

Eligibility requirements for the Cultural Fund Online

Special funding

As of: October 2026

1. Entitlement to subsidies

All full and associate GEMA members belonging to the professional category of composers or lyricists are entitled to subsidies.

2. Object of the subsidy and conditions for receiving it

Each member can file one application for funding for one project per funding round. However, each member may receive funding only once per financial year. Each project can be supported with a subsidy only once. This also applies if multiple applicants apply in respect of the same project. We therefore recommend that other parties who have an interest in the project, and might also be entitled to apply, be notified in advance when planning to file an application.

An application for a subsidy can be filed if the following conditions are met:

- The member making the application must have granted GEMA the management of their online rights. In addition, revenue amounting to at least €500 must have been generated in the GOP, MOD D and/or MOD S categories during the financial year preceding the application. The total revenue from these categories over the previous financial year must also not exceed €15,000.
- The subsidy is aimed at professional music authors who want to develop their songwriting career strategically by tapping into new networks of artists and/or business networks, new genres or new markets via organised writing sessions in and outside Germany or through prospective participation in songwriting camps, thereby developing a growing catalogue of copyrighted works in which they have been involved and are therefore entitled to a share of the proceeds.
- It is furthermore aimed at creators who are also performers (as solo artists or as part of a band) and who, in this capacity, are planning the production and online release of an audio recording (e.g. an EP or album) consisting solely of new own works. Music producers who are demonstrably, and to a significant degree, involved as co-authors in such a creation and music production process, are also entitled to apply.

3. Filing the application

Applications for a special subsidy may only be submitted via the GEMA Online Portal. Applications for the first funding round may be filed from 2 to 22 November 2026, and may only be submitted by the actual applicant. Applications may not be submitted by proxy representatives.

Applicants must provide evidence of their creative work to date in the form of three works already released online in which they have an interest. These are to be communicated via links (e.g. to Spotify, YouTube or a comparable platform) in the application form. Applicants must explain their contribution to the creation of these works.

In a video of no more than two minutes, applicants should present themselves, their previous creative work and, in particular, the project for which they are seeking funding in a compelling way to the jury. The presentation video is a key element of both the application and selection process. The applicant must appear in person in the video and personally present the project. In addition, a short biography must be submitted.

Applicants may additionally share links to their social media profiles or songwriting credits. Applicants must state on the application form which objective they aim to pursue with this subsidy (the creation/conception and recording/production of one or more new work/s, and through what actions and means). They should highlight here how their project stands out from others (is it a “trail-blazing” project?).

The specific planned use of the subsidy should be set out in a financing plan. This must state clearly whether the project is also receiving any support from other sources.

Once the application has been submitted, applicants will receive an automatic confirmation of receipt in their Online Portal mailbox. Applicants will also be notified of the approval or rejection of the application through a message in their Online Portal mailbox. We will not be able to provide information about the progress of the procedure during the intervening period.

4. Awarding the subsidy

Subsidies will be awarded by an independent jury consisting of nine full members and three deputy members. The jury will be selected by the GEMA Supervisory Board and appointed for a three-year period.

The jury will decide in a secret ballot on the subsidy applications presented to it, with the composition of the jury varying as described above.

The jury will initially assess the first 100 applications that are submitted in full and that meet the formal requirements set out in the funding call. Once the funds allocated to a particular funding round have been exhausted, no further applications can be approved.

5. Funding Agreement, Funding Amount and Payment

A funding agreement will be concluded between GEMA and the funded member. The agreement sets out the details relating to payment of the funding, use of the funds and the recipient's obligations to participate and cooperate. The funding agreement will be published together with the Terms and Conditions of Participation before the application period opens.

The funding amount of EUR 10,000 will be paid in two instalments: 75% upon approval of the application and signing of the funding agreement, and 25% upon completion of the project and successful review of the complete proof of expenditure and use of funds.

Payment of the first subsidy instalment is expected to take place on 1 March 2027.

6. Obligations of the applicants

Applicants undertake to provide correct and complete information when filing an application. Retrospective changes and additions cannot be considered. Any subsequent changes or additions can only be considered following consultation with GEMA and subject to its approval.

7. Data protection

The provisions of the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) apply in respect of the processing of personal data. Further information, including the rights of the applicants, is available to view in the GEMA data protection declaration at: www.gema.de/en/data-protection.

8. Exclusion of legal entitlement

There is no legal entitlement to a subsidy from GEMA.

9. Period of validity

The above eligibility requirements are valid in respect of the current funding round at the time of their issuing.
